

To Kill a Mockingbird
Map

Setting is an important element in any novel, and To Kill a Mockingbird is no exception. There were many clues in the first two chapters that will help you to create your own map of the town of Maycomb, Alabama. In small groups, scan the first two chapters to look for information. We will present our findings in class tomorrow.

Chart the following points of interest:

Due Tuesday, January 24

- Courthouse
- Finch residence
- Dubose house
- Radley house

list the page number that explains its location

We've also met important characters in these first two chapters. Place these important characters on the map next to the places in which we find them. Then decide on a symbol that would adequately represent the character and affix the symbol next to the character
